

EC 224: Intermediate Microeconomics

Spring 2026 Syllabus

Bentley University

Course Description

This is an intermediate microeconomics course that provides an analytical approach to economic interactions between main economic actors (individuals, firms, and governments). The course builds on the concepts you learned in introduction to microeconomics and more formally studies the price mechanism, production, and economic behavior in different market settings and levels of information that actors have access to.

Knowledge

- Consumer maximization problem using utility functions, optimization of consumption subject to a budget constraint. Consumer responses to changes in market prices.
- Firm profit maximization using isoquant and isocost analysis subject to cost constraints. Firm responses to changes in market prices.
- Industries with different cost structures and returns to scale associated with them.
- Welfare, market failures, negative and positive externalities.
- Different market structures: perfect competition, monopolistic competition, oligopoly, monopoly.

Skills

- Advance analytical analysis and graphical reasoning using microeconomic theory.
- Use mathematical tools creatively to analyze economic problems.
- Develop a critical approach to economic theory and problem solving.

Perspectives

- Have a better understanding of market structure and the interaction of economic agents within the market.
- Have a better understanding of marginal decision-making approach to economic reasoning.

Grading

You MUST attend all the midterms and the final as there will be no make-up exams in this course. The midterms are NOT cumulative. If you miss or are likely to miss a midterm due to an emergency, please contact me as soon as possible. You will need to provide supporting documentation/verification of your absence. I will re-weight your final exam accordingly if you have a valid excuse. Please note that family vacations or missing the school shuttle are not valid excuses.

The final exam is cumulative. If you miss the final exam due to an emergency, you will receive an incomplete for this course. Do not take this class if you know that you will not be able to attend the final exam.

You have 10 homework assignments. The submission system is automated and will not accept any submissions after the deadline (even 5 minutes). You will miss the assignment and there will be no exceptions. For each question, you have three attempts. If you receive at least 50% of the overall score indicated in the homework assignment, you will receive full credit. Otherwise, you will receive zero. You can miss up to 3 homework assignments; I will take the average of your best 7 homework scores as your homework grade. The questions are algorithmic and will be slightly different each time, so you are encouraged to work together on homework assignments.

Academic Integrity

Learning is a privilege that demands responsibility. At Bentley, students and faculty are members of an academic community that supports integrity both inside and outside the classroom. The expectation at Bentley is that students will take advantage of the opportunity for intellectual development and, in doing so, will conduct themselves in a manner consistent with the standards of academic integrity. When these standards are violated or compromised, individuals and the entire Bentley community suffer. Students who engage in acts of academic dishonesty not only face university censure but also may harm their future educational and employment opportunities. In other words, don't bring unauthorized materials into exams, don't plagiarize someone else's work, and make sure that your collaborations are conducted in accordance with university and course policy.

All students have access to Bentley's academic integrity policy in the Bentley University Student Handbook. The best way to avoid a problem is to consult with your instructor before taking any action that might constitute a violation.

Support Services

Bias Incident Response

The Bias Incident Response Team (BIRT) provides students affected by bias or bias-related incidents with access to appropriate resources. Where appropriate, BIRT assists the University in its response to situations that may impact the overall campus climate related to diversity and inclusion. More information about BIRT and how to file a bias incident report can be found at: <https://www.bentley.edu/offices/student-affairs/birt>

Student Accessibility Services

Bentley University abides by Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 which stipulate no student shall be denied the benefits of an education solely by reason of a disability. If you have a hidden or visible disability which may require classroom accommodations, please call Student Accessibility Services within the first 4 weeks of the semester to schedule an appointment. Student Accessibility Services is located in the Office of Student Success (JEN 336, 781.891.2004). Student Accessibility Services is responsible for managing academic accommodations and services for all students with disabilities.

For more information, visit: <https://www.bentley.edu/offices/student-accessibility-services>

The Undergraduate Academic Services (UAS) Peer Tutoring program offers online one-on-one and small group tutoring services for students who have worked with their instructors and made use of the Learning Centers, but still require additional academic support. Please reach out to me if you need more information.

Attendance Policy

All students must attend the in-person classes. In-person attendance is essential because it allows for real-time interaction, immediate feedback, and the kind of dialogue that makes learning stick. I do not record lectures, so if you miss a class, you miss the material.

If you have an exceptional circumstance that prevents you from attending in person, you must notify me before class. If I approve, I will provide you with a Zoom link to join remotely. Remote attendance is a privilege, not a default option.

There may be one or two sessions during the semester when I need to hold class online due to my schedule. I will notify you in advance when this happens.
